

Memorial Book

In Loving Memory of

Timothy James DaSilva

(July 28, 1985 - July 15, 2006)

This memorial website was created to remember our dearest Timothy James DaSilva who was born in Toronto, Canada on July 28, 1985 and passed away on July 15, 2006 at the age of 20. You will live on forever in our memories and hearts.

Tim was a loving son, brother, uncle, grandson, nephew and friend. He always had a smile on his face and was always up for anything.

I was fortunate enough to have Tim for a brother, and Chris for my baby brother. We were so different and yet so close that to this day it still amazes me. It was a complete shock When Tim died that Saturday afternoon. I still remember getting the call to go there and not finding out the tragic news until we got to the gates. At that moment I felt that a piece of my heart had been broken off and just disappeared. That hole in my heart will never be filled again. I cannot imagine going the rest of my life without my brother by my side me to watch my kids grow and be a part of our lives. Please watch over us Tim and the rest of the family too from your place up in heaven.

Tim was so special, he touched so many lives and people with his gentle ways and funny stories. He was always the life of the party and there was never a dull or quiet moment with him around.

There are so many people who are missing you Tim, that it's hard to understand how you touched so many people in the short time that you were alive. Your memory and spirit will go on forever through your family and friends and your name will go on forever.

I love you, my brother and I will never forget the 20 years that the three of us shared...Ride In Peace forever and until we meet again you will be in my heart and prayers.

The background of the entire image is a mottled, textured olive-green or taupe color. In the upper right quadrant, there are two roses. The one on the left is smaller and more tightly closed, while the one on the right is larger and more open, showing its petals. Both roses are rendered in a soft, painterly style, blending into the background.

so sweet, so unforgettable...

The background of the entire image is a textured, mottled olive-green or taupe color. In the upper right quadrant, there is a faint, artistic illustration of two roses. One rose is smaller and more tightly curled, while the other is larger and more open, showing its petals. They appear to be rendered in a light, sketchy style that blends into the background.

Two roses are positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image. The rose on the left is smaller and more tightly closed, while the one on the right is larger and more open, showing its petals. They are set against a mottled, olive-green background that has a subtle, paper-like texture. The lighting is soft, creating gentle shadows and highlights on the petals and the background.

Condolences

from the deepest of our hearts...

"He Only Took My Hand"

Last night while I was trying to sleep

My son's voice I did hear.

I opened my eyes and looked around.

but he did not appear.....

He said, "Mom, you've got to listen,

You've got to understand;

God didn't take me from you all,

He only took my hand.

When I called out in pain that night,

The instant that I died,

He reached down and took my hand, and pulled me to His side.

He pulled me up and saved me,

From the misery and pain.

My body was hurt so badly.

I could never be the same.

My search is really over now,

I've found happiness within.

All the answers to my dreams,

And all that might have been.

I love you all and miss you so,

And I'll always be nearby.

My body's gone forever,

But my spirit will never die!

And, so you must all go on now, live one day at a time, just understand!

God didn't take me from you,

He only took my hand."

to your mum from another mum

26th Jan 2007

brenda (ronnie Glascott,s mum) from liverpool relation: passer by

I too lost my son & know what its like.thought i would send you thid poem i was sent as its so true know one knows what your going through..unless your a mum...

ASK MY MUM HOW SHE IS

My mum, she tells lots of lies she never did before.

from now until the day she dies,she'll tell a whole lot more.

She use to tell the truth,a lot but now it does'nt matter, i died and went to heaven,
her life is all a-shatter.

Ask my mum how she is,
she'll say, "yes,im fine!"
she wants to beg "please help me, i can't find that boy of mine"

ask my mum,how she is,
she'll say "im alright".
if thats the truth then tell me,
why does she cry each night?.

Ask my mum,how she is,
she seems to cope so well.
she didn't have a choice,you see,
nor the strength to yell.

you think you know the feeling,
but this cannot be.
for even though you loved me,
you didn't love as much as she.

she will smile and tell you,
"its o.k. god as got a plan"
but she will turn away & cry cause she just can't understand tell a joke & she will laugh, but she is not o.k.

she wants to share the joke with me,
but it will not be to-day.

i watch from here,in heaven,
her distress disturbs my peace, will someone please take care of her,
and thus take care of me?

"some day you will feel better"
"yes i will." she lies,
she knows this will not happen,
until the day she dies.

"i was so lucky!
i had him all those years!"
they passed in a minute,
i shed so many tears.

ask my mum how is she,
she'll say "thank you, good".
she cannot tell you how she feels,
oh how i wish she could.

ask my mum how is she,
" im fine, im well,im coping".
for gods sake, mum,just tell the truth just say your heart is broken.

ask my mum how is she,
"im well,im good, & you?"
i'll shake my head in heaven, it simply isn't true.

she'll love me all her life,i loved her all of mine, but if you ask how she is,
she'll lie and say she's fine.

her carnival is over,
she's stepped off the carousel,
but to save you feeling badly, she'll say "thanks,all well.

my mum, she's not gone mad,yet, but,oh so very nearly,
don't ask my mum how she is,
ask how is she really.

i am here in heaven,
i cannot hug you from here,
if she lies to you,don,t listen, hug her,hold her dear.

on the day we meet again.
we'll smile and i'll be bold.
i'll say "your lucky to get in here,mum, with all the lies you told".....

Lynds

TOGETHER FOREVER

February 1, 2007

Wow welcome to 2007, here we are it has been almost seven months since we lost someone that is so very special to us all. Everyday When i wake up i put my feet on the floor, and look around and realize that it is the truth today again like the last 200 mornings that have passed he is still not here. We have been through so much together, we have so many amazing memories, from drunken monopoly and running the streets in the pouring rain to finding out that tim was going to have another beautiful niece. And even hard times like being there to help you both through your grandmother being so sick to finding out that she was going to be okay when we broke in the back way to the hospital. Soccer games in the field across the street and adriannas birthdays and even our birthdays. I feel as though we all need to take something positive out of this horrible situation, and i think what i am going to take is even though at times it didn't seem it was going to end this way, im going to walk away with one of the greatest friends and people i have ever met, You mean the world to me Jess i miss being soo close with you you helped me so much not only with tim but with who i am. I May feel most days as the most unluckiest girl in the world to take a loss like this, but i can also smile most days to know that i have made such an amazing friend, something tells me that although we may never have tim to keep us together i will always keep you in my heartl. I wanna do everything i can to stay close to you. You mean so much to me, and i can't stress that enough, your an amazing person, You are so lucky to have had such an amazing brother in your life and you are even more lucky to still have one here. Talking with you even for a few short and sometimes just flat out many hours at a time, you seem to be able to help me ease some pain and i hope that i can do that for you as well, i have always felt a special connection with you from the start. I even remeber tim telling me that he was so excited for us to meet because we were going to get along so well, and he was right. I have so many amazing things to thank tim for and one of them is for introducing me to such an amazing friend. I want you to know that i will always be here for you no matter what, i will do anything i can for you, for as long as you will let me. Your an wonderful person and it is nice to be able to see you smile again even if it just for a short time and even though you may not be smiling inside, I know we are going to eventually be able to deal with this. I also want to thank the rest of the Dasilvas, Zira and Manny, are the most amazing parents in the world to have raised such an amazing person that i could love with all my heart and i want to thank them for that if it wasn't for them tim would not have been the man that he grew to be. Thank you both. I hope that we all to can remain so close, it is so nice to know that i can lean on you both as well, thank you so much for making feel like apart of your wonderful family. And of course Chris we never have been all that close but don't ever forget that you have this wonderful family that i have grown to love all around you everyday and know that if you ever need me i will be there for you to. I really miss being at the track with tim and watching you race his eyes would be glued to you and the expression on his face is just pure pride he loves you so much, he will still watch you with that look is his eyes this season he is always with you he will never stop watching over you and be proud of you.

Love Always

You Meant So Much

by Cassie Mitchell

You meant so much to all of us
You were special and that's no lie
You brightened up the darkest day

And the cloudiest sky

Your smile alone warmed hearts
Your laugh was like music to hear
I would give absolutely anything
To have you well and standing near

Not a second passes
When you're not on our minds
Your love we will never forget
The hurt will ease in time

Many tears I have seen and cried
They have all poured out like rain
I know that you are happy now
And no longer in any pain.

Broken Heart

January 7, 2007

Tim

You never said you were leaving, You never said goodbye;

You were gone before I knew it, And only God knew why;

A million times I needed you, A million times I cried;

If Love alone could have saved you,

YOU never would have died;

In life I loved you dearly, In death I love you still;

It broke my heart to lose YOU, But you didn't go alone;

For all my Love went with YOU, The day God took you home.

Missing you so so so so much Tim!

Love, Mom xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Indelible imprint

December 3, 2006

I found this message that touches my heart and I hope will help everyone with the loss of our Timmy.

"I know for certain that we never lose the people we love, even to death. They continue to participate in every act, thought and decision we make. Their love leaves an endelible imprint in our memories. We find comfort in knowing that our lives have been enriched by having shared their love

another grieving Mom

November 15, 2006

Your loss is still so new and fresh, yet it feels as if it could not possibly be true. The emotional roller coaster is one that I've lived now for 16 months; some days are much better than others, yet still, the void in my life is absolute raw reality. You and your family are in my thoughts and prayers as you approach this first holiday season. Try not to look too far ahead and in looking back, feel free to do so with tears as well as laughter and conversations about your memories with Tim. Always remember that you aren't alone in this. May God Bless you all as Tim lives on in another beautiful life with our son. (andrew-collins.last-memories.com)

Beautiful Memorial

November 12, 2006

Living without seeing Timmy has gotten harder and harder to cope for me, I may seem alright to everyone but inside my heart is ripping apart every single moment, everything reminds me of my Timmy, I never imagined my life could be as devastating as it is now. Jessica I wanted to let you know that I love this memorial, it shows how much you truly LOVE your brother, please always remember that YOU were his favourite sister in the whole world, I'm not just saying that because you were the only one, but you really were a very special sister to Tim and I believe you are just as special to Chris. I could not have asked for 3 better children in this world, the 3 of you have always filled my world with Joy and Happiness, lots of worries, normal stuff that parents and children go through, but you were the best 3 children I could have ever hoped for... and I thank you for that, Chris I hope you know how very proud I am of you that you are going to College to be what you want in life. Jessica & Christopher please always help each other and stick by each other, no matter what life brings your way and think of our Timmy as our Special Angel in Heaven guiding and helping us everyday. I know you both miss him so much and if we always help each other it might be just a little bit easier to cope of pain. I love you both more than you can imagine. You both are all I have left and truly love! Have a good week with Jason and my little princess Adriana. I love you ALL!

Wish I could turn back the hands of time

September 29, 2006

Timmy, I wish I could turn back the hands of time and just have you come over for a visit. Just to see your beautiful smile and be able to talk to you. The first thing I would do is give you a big hug and tell you how much I care for you. I would tell you how proud I am of you and so very thankful for all you have done for me. The other night Michael told me that he truly misses you and that he will never have another friend that means so much to him. He reminisced for some time with a tear in his eye, but also a smile; a smile that you put there with such everlasting memories. I told Michael that even though you left this earth way too young, I told him that he is so very lucky to have such a wonderful friend and that you would both be the best of friends forever. Michael is looking forward to coming over this weekend and doing up a page 'in memory'. I know that you are at peace and have the biggest smile on your face when you see someone riding your track. You accomplished so much in so many short years. Your family and friends made sure that your track was completed, and it was done with such love and compassion.

Love forever, Cheryl xxx

"Celebration of Life"

September 23, 2006

This poem was found by my friend MANNY MARQUES on (September 22, 2006)

"It's been over two months,
Since you've left us here,
With memories and thoughts,
That we hold so dear.
You left so suddenly,
And the shock was immense.
Your parting from us,
seemed to make no sense.
But we fought back the hurt,
That cut like a knife.
And decided, as a family,
to celebrate your life.
You lived each day,

With joy and pleasure,
Your outlook on life,
we'll always treasure."

Im Here For You!

September 12, 2006

Jess,

I often visit this absolutely beautiful web page you put together to share all the memories of Tim to everyone.

Reading how you feel about the loss of Tim, breaks my heart, I know I don't feel the pain you do but I understand!

I know you are hurting more than words can say but I know how deep this is and it breaks my heart, I wish I could endure your pain and make it all go away so so so much but reality is, I can't.

What I can do, is be here for you forever and ever, my shoulder you can ALWAYS lean on.

Please Chris, Dad and Mom I mean no ignorance not to include you in what I was saying to Jessica, I know you all are suffering in different ways and on different days. If there is any comfort to you 3, I Love Jessica like a Sister and will never turn my back on her, I will help her through this and anything else she needs.

Jessica, I Love You! Please smile, Tim will smile with you!!!!!!!

A poem for you Tim

September 6, 2006

In a quiet country cemetery,
Where the gentle breezes blow,
Lies my son I love so dearly;
He died a while ago.
His resting place I visit,
Placing flowers there with care,
But no one knows my heartache,
When I turn to leave them there.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hands I cannot touch,
Still I have so many memories
Of the son I loved so much.
His memory is my keepsake,
With which I will never part.
God has him in His keeping;
I have him in my heart.

Missing you

August 30, 2006

I am having one of those bad days, I feel the need to see your smile. Your photos are all over my house, in my car and in my wallet - why does this still hurt so much?

It still hurts so much because you were like one of my own - you were my oldest BMX son, you made my life fuller. I just spent some time with your dad and brother and we got to chat a bit - it had been hard for me to talk with them because I am still trying so hard to deal with your passing - but your dad helped me more than he will ever know. And I was so very proud of Chris, he did so well this weekend in BC, we all know you were there racing with us Timmy, we saw the dragonfly!

I still think you are going to come through those track gates, I love you so much, you were so special to me - and it hurts so bad. Until we meet again my very special friend.

I love you Tim.

Nicky

Two roses are positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image. The rose on the left is smaller and more tightly curled, while the one on the right is larger and more open, showing its petals. They are set against a mottled, olive-green background that has a paper-like texture. The overall lighting is soft and diffused, creating a gentle, nostalgic atmosphere.

Life is a precious gift given to us -- and for that we must live each and every day to it's fullest. We should not live in the past, nor in the future, but, in the present. Tell your loved ones that you love them, live well, love well, and don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today. Nothing is more important than your own sense of happiness and inner peace and that of your loved ones.

Timmy always lived life to it's fullest! He loved his family and friends, he did what made him happy, and he lived in the present. Yes, Timmy left us way too soon, but I feel that he led a very full, happy life! He enjoyed each step along life's way and lived his life full of love!

I know that Timmy is around the people that he cares for. Many of us have experienced his presence. I don't go many places without my dragonfly brooch....

We all miss Timmy so much...but what an absolutely wonderful feeling to know that he lived life with much love and enthusiasum; and left us all with wonderful memories.

His legacy lives on!

Sarah

One memory that sticks out so clearly to me about Tim is a plain bagel toasted with tomato and cheddar cheese...While at Timmies one day Tim suggested that i try it, now i did not like tomatos at all but i liked Tim (lol) so i ordered and while waiting for it to be prepared i kept telling myself "you have to eat it and show you like it" thinking i would impress Tim. So i sat down and took a bite and I loved it and Tim looked at me with that huge smile and said "I told you so" and to this day i get that every time i go to Tim Horton's. Just to add, in the winter time Tim would throw my friend and I in the snow and made sure we would return to Carmel with red faces wet hair and wet school pants...lol!

During the month of February I had the oppertunity to work at my old elementary school, which is also Tim's old elementary school and when i walked in memories of Tim flooded my mind his graduation picture still hangs on the wall...As i was working with a grade 8 student I opened the text book and written on the frst page was "Tim Daslilva" in black pen it literally gave me goose bump, and after I saw that i knew that Tim was in that school somewhere.

I just thought that I would share this to remind everyone that those who have gone are still around and they have their own way of showing their presence even if you can't always see it.

My prayers and thoughts are still with the Dasilva family and those that love Tim!

ashley pereira

yesturday night i was doing homework and i had some poetry homework, i had to write a free verse poem. meaning write about anything you want, no rules just write. so here is the poem i wrote. i hope you like it...

i got home one day not knowing what to do or say she called and said he was hurt then to hear "he's dead, he's gone" at that moment i wanted to scream tears streamed down my face like a waterfall i couldn't believe it, what a nightmare it felt i wanted someone the wake me up next thing i know i'm at a funeral, crying infront of a casket seeing someone who felt so cold, and looking so different now i'm at a cemetery, bike lined up and i'm walking to where he'll be layed in the ground

"riders ready, watch the gate" "go tim go "
he won, he made it to his destination, heaven angels greeted him, he got his wings now he's watching over us, keeping us safe don't cry, smile think of all the fun times we shared we will be together again, as one big family

he will always be in my heart and by my side he will ride in peace forever...

it's hard knowing that tim will never be at my cousins house when i got for a get together or something like that..it's tough knowing i won't see him ever again until it's my time to go...tim was an amazing person, and i know that everyone has there time, but tim was just starting his dream. he was such a good person and for him to be taken away from us at the age of 20 is something i will never understand..i will always remember the last day i say tim and i will cherish all the memories in my heart, just like where he'll be for the rest of my life...he is now in a better place and he will never be hurt again..i know that is true but it doesn't help with the fact thats he's gone...so many people knew tim and i know he will always be in our hearts...ride in peace tim..love you<3

Catarina

I remember my confirmation in 2004...it was one of the last times tim had came down form milton to mississauga to my house. I actually did not know he was coming, i was really happy to see him there it had really meant a lot to me. I rememnber joking around and what not. I wish i could have had more times like that.

Then, there was my grandparents anniversary and all of had gotten together. It was so much fun everyone was sooo happy to be there. Tim was being his usual happy self pulling jokes, and continued to make everyone laugh like he always did. that was the last time i had saw tim before the accident. this memory, that day, will be kept with me forever.

i just thought i would share this...

Cheryl Mills and family

Timmy, this is a poem that reflects how we all feel, especially your family.

Broken Chain

We couldn't have known that morning,
God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone.
For parts of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
You left us with peaceful memories,
And your love is still our guide.
And though we can not see you,
We feel you always by our side.
Our family chain is broken,
And nothing seems the same.
But as God calls us, one by one the chain will link again.

Mom - Zira

Tim, I remember how proud you were 3 years ago when Adriana was born and I know you would be just as proud now if you were here to see and hold your new Baby Niece = Alyssa Sierra Medeiros. She is so beautiful and so perfect, as Adriana is, please watch over them and protect them from harm.

Tim, Life is just not the same not having you around, I miss everything about you, your beautiful smile, your wonderful laugh, your funny jokes, your warm hugs, you standing over me with your chin on top of my head calling me "shorty", I miss hearing all of your BMX racing stories and you telling me "sorry Mamasita but I have to go".

You were constantly wanting to be everywhere possible, now it makes sense, you were always rushing here and there and everywhere because your time was too short with all of us.

Tim I wish you knew how I feel every minute of everyday, how much I miss you, how I long to see you and hug you and talk to you.

God sent our family an Angel - Alyssa, for us to cherish and love but I still don't understand why he took you so soon, maybe I will never understand it, its too hard living without you Son.

I miss YOU everysecond of my waking hours, I dream about you so many nights, you are my precious child and my angel, I LOVE YOU Timmy!

Your headstone was put up today, it looks beautiful, but now its so real, it hurts so much to see it but at the same time its great that it got done just before Christmas, since I cannot give you a present I light up as many candles as I can in the hopes that you will see me through the light and feel my Love for you.

Tim you will be FOREVER remembered here on earth and I hope one day soon I will be with you again. xoxoxoxoxo

POEM

I wish that he was here..
but he had to leave & thats not fair,
maybe God just needed him, an angel.
I still need him with us,
I wish things could go back to the way they used to be.
But now he's gone and he's not coming back.
I wish he was sitting here with me.
But now all i have are pictures and memories of what he used to be.

I wish that i could turn back time,
Because if he was here EVERYTHING would be fine!!
I WISH HE WAS HERE..
But even though he can't be, i know he's watching down on me, keeping me safe..

Longing For One More Day

When we lose someone we love it seems that time stands still.

What moves through us is a silence... a quiet sadness... A longing for one more day... one more word... one more touch..

We may not understand why you left this earth so soon, or why you left before we were ready to say good-bye, but little by little, we begin to remember not just that you died, but that you lived.

And your life gave us memories too beautiful to forget.

We will see you again some day, in a heavenly place where there is no parting. A place where there are no words that mean good-bye.

Cheryl Mills

I remember way back when the kids were young, and Michael and Timmy out playing baseball. They had so much fun! That is where their friendship began.

Then the two boys got into BMX racing together, and then there was no stopping them! Riding their bikes, adding bits and pieces to their bikes, striving constantly to get faster and faster. They both wanted to be up there with the Bob Roleys, Jay Roleys, etc. They use to go out into the field behind my house with shovels in hand. They would be out there all day, and come back when their jumps were completed.

I remember two friends who had so much fun together, and so much in common.

I remember Timmy and his breathtaking smile, his love of bmxing, and his compassion for those he loved.

I remember Timmy and his love for life, and with all of our wonderful memories we will keep his memory alive.

Lyndsey Finn

I will never forget the first night that we hung out together, You convinced me that i had to take you out to a movie and how sly you were because you got me to do it, but of course you drove, what started as a movie night between two friends became the start of something so very much more, We were early for the movie so we decided we would go mini golfing and you let me win(and i can't believe i am admitting that) but another one of your cute little tricks, and then we went to see that movie The longest Yard. And those weren't even the best parts of our night we got back into milton around ten and we decided that we weren't ready to go home, There was something that just drew us to each other i had never met someone in my whole entire life that i could talk to with such ease and that truly made me feel how much they really cared and thats because you did, we Shared so much that night, we learned more that night about each other then some people learn after years of being together. It kept getting later and later and we both just could not stop talking to one and other, and before we knew it we had spent the night in your car and we were both almost late for work, And the best part about being late was that we worked at the same place, and we had to go in late TOGETHER, but we got through that together and that night was the start of many sleepless nights staying up on work nights sharing our thoughts, goals and dreams, And whats most important to me about that night is that i found that best friend that i will ever have in my whole life and soon after that he also became the love of my life.....the best of both worlds lucky us! Thanks for everything you have done for me and continue to do for me, You loved me more in a minute baby then anyone could in a lifetime...i'll never forget you you will always live on in my heart, Look out for me like you always have and in heaven we will be together xoxoxo

i rember when we use to live a the town house and we went out biking and we were at mikes house and we were having lots of fun and we didnt want to go home yet so tim told me to role in the dirt and rip my paints and rip my paints so we had an excuce to be late whell we rode home and it worked so every me tim and chris went bikeing i ripped my paints and roled in the dirt and told my mum and manny that i fell so we could be 40 mins late i wish we could still go bikeing togher that stoped working about 2 years ago i wish we could go bikeing togher again all of us but some body can dreem i haave lotse of memories

Timmy DaSilva was not just a member of our BMX family -he had become part of the Pearson family.

I had spent more time with Timmy this past month that I have my own kids - Airdrie, Crabtree and the track build allowed Timmy and I to chat about all sorts of things, family, BMX, life, futures. On our drive to Kingston (en-route to Crabtree) Tim and I spoke of the things that were important to him - his chance to prove himself on the track at the Elite level - his chance to build a track based on his ideas and design - the respect he had for his family, his friends, and his huge love for his niece.

I had recently contacted the Milton Newspaper to do a story on Tim and his success at the UCI races - he made the mains in the toughest classes in Canada. When I told Timmy this, he grinned that wonderful grin and said “That’s cool – you know why - I have women of all ages walk up to me in stores and say ‘Hey. Don’t I know you?’, and I would thrust out my chest, stand tall, adjust my ball cap, put on a deep voice and say “Sure you do, I’m Timmy DaSilva – I was in the newspaper” and then he would wink, and walk away smiling. When he was telling me this story he was acting it out at the same time and he had Martin and me in stitches of laughter.

This past week in Halton I was absolutely impressed with Tim’s attitude, dedication, patience (especially when Martin was “instructing” him) and his desire to build the best track. A track that would help Ontario riders reach the podium - he never just thought about Tim, he made sure every jump was safe for the 5 year old, but challenging for the 15 year old and fun for the 25 year olds – it was always about everyone else.

Tim had the uncanny ability to laugh, listen and learn and tease at the same time, for instance, Martin had taken painstaking hours measuring and staking out the track so that it would be built to National specs - and Tim would watch him put in the last stake, wait until Martin was looking directly at him and would deliberately move or bend or push in the stakes, yell “Hey old man - look” and wheel away in his bobcat so Martin couldn’t catch him – all the while laughing loudly.

Another laugh was when Timmy was walking around shirtless (showing off his muscles – to whom I am not sure as it was all guys on the track) and you could see the top of his underwear. Well, Chris suddenly yelled across the width of the start hill “Tim! You’ve got my underwear on!” The reply Timmy gave made me smile wide - “No Chris! Mom just bought these for me!” I said “Timmy - did you just say your mom still buys you your underwear?” and Tim and Chris smiled and replied “Yea! She knows our size, we always buy the wrong size – and you know what Nicky, she still makes our doctor and dentist appointments too!” Well we all laughed and they both looked at me and said that they loved the fact that their mom still took care of them at their age.

On Friday night, I had a chance to say a few things to Tim, things that Dean and I had often talked about - I told him how much we admired him, how we respected him, how Dean and I treated him as one of our own - and that we were so proud of him, and that if our kids ended up like him that we would be truly blessed!

Of the many emails and phone calls that we received, one was from Samantha Cools, World Champion who had spent time in Airdrie and Crabtree with Tim. She would like me to forward her blessings to the DaSilvas and asked me to tell you that she will be racing the Worlds for Timmy.

She also told us that herself and Aaron Lepp would like to come to Halton Place and finish the track for Tim.

Timor and Megan, owners of Halton Place, the DaSilva family and the Ontario BMX family want to complete Tims dream and we will finish the track for Tim.

Halton Place would also like for the track to be named the Tim DaSilva BMX Track

Dean, myself and our boys mean every word I have said. He was Kyle's hero – he was Brady's buddy and he was our friend. In the years we have known Tim he had become a man before our eyes – Dean and I loved him like a son, respected him as a rider, and admired him as a man.

God Bless you Tim, your time with us made our lives so much brighter and fuller – thank you for that – God speed. We love you buddy.

Two roses are positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image. The rose on the left is smaller and more tightly closed, while the one on the right is larger and more open, showing its petals. They are set against a mottled, olive-green background that has a subtle, aged texture.

Tim's Life Story....I don't think that if everyone said everything that they ever knew about Tim that it would be enough to call his Life Story....He had too much life in him and love to give for anyone to ever encompass the full truth about who he was. I was so lucky for God to give me Tim for a brother. For those of you who don't know I am the oldest, born three years before Tim, then Chris our baby brother was born three years after Tim.

Tim's life was always about biking. For about ten years now that's all that he has worked for and strived towards. Many times I tried to talk him into thinking about another future for himself in case something didn't work out with bmxing. But somehow it always did work for Tim and I am so thankful that it did. Tim truly lived his dream until the day that he died. He would have picked biking over anything including, eating, going out, friends, girlfriends, etc. That's just who he was and we were never stupid enough to challenge him on that because we knew just how much it meant to him. He could talk about it for hours on end but of course only with certain people as involved as he.

Tim also loved his car....97' Honda Civic Coupe 2 Door, red. He was so proud of that car and used to think that it was his own race car. I would be able to hear it coming from about two blocks away. And he would always do something special with it right in front of the house, a little peel out or coming around the turn so fast that you thought he was going to spin out. He got himself into trouble numerous times with that car, including trying to pull over an undercover cop with his fake siren...things like that I will remember for always and always hold the memory of him telling me what it was like and how his heart started beating so fast when he heard sirens behind him. Tim was never afraid of anything.

In 2003 my life changed dramatically with the birth of my daughter, Adriana, on September 7th. It was a Sunday and my brother went to Track 2000 to race as usual before coming to see me at the hospital when visiting hours started. When they came into the room I remember feeling so proud of Adriana and ready to show her off to anybody. They each took a turn holding her for the first time but when Tim had her she began to cry and he got so nervous that he gave her right back to me. Well a couple of months later Tim became her Godfather in the eyes of God. That day is one that has not left my mind since Tim's accident. I remember he kept on asking me, "Jess, can I hold her now?" or "Where should I be standing?" I am so proud to be able to tell my daughter the kind of Godfather that she had and will always have. I know that Tim will be watching over her forever, to make sure that she is safe. Tim also gave Adriana her first tricycle (to nobody's surprise) for her first birthday. On her second birthday he also gave her her first bike complete with training wheels and of course taught her how to ride it. Everytime I see her on that bike it just brings tears to my eyes because I remember like it was just yesterday watching him take her to the school across the street and teaching her how to pedal. Tim you never taught her how to use the brakes though!

We also had some good times playing Monopoly at our house. Tim, Lyndsey, Jay and I would get out the bottles and play for shots....it was so much fun and I will miss it forever. Sometimes we would all have brutal headaches the next morning but Tim would always be the one to say "You guys are a bunch of sucks!" We knew that he was hurting too but he would never have admitted it.

I can't believe that its coming up to two months that you have been gone Tim. It hurts so much but the days seem to go by whether you want them to or not. At least that's how I feel. I can't really say that my life sucks because I have a beautiful daughter and another baby on the way, I just miss you so much. Not a day or hour for that matter that I don't think about you or stop and remember something that you said or did to me. I think that maybe now some memories are coming back to me. I think everything left my mind when everything happened because it was such a huge shock. Now I am finally able to remember things that we did, or we will drive by somewhere and I will just get a flashback of us being there. There are so many memories that I want to share but when I want to talk about them they disapear from my mind.

You were so prooud of Chris, because he is going to school to become a cop. I remember you teasing him saying that you would need his badge number to get you out of trouble. I wish that you were here to get into trouble and have to get yourself out of it!

You had so many plans and dreams, everyone says that you died building your dream but I know how much bigger your dreams really were. When you wanted to move to Austrailia, I was so upset and told everyone that I could not believe that you were going to move to Austrailia and be so far away, even if it was only for a couple of months....I just couldn't stand not being able to call you or run into you at Dad's or you calling to say you were going to drop by. Now Austrailia does not sound so bad...I wish you were there, alive and well and riding your heart out!

But I guess there is no point in wishing for something that can never come true.

I really wish that you could've been here to see the way that people are coming together for you. It really would've made you proud to see it. It's jsut too bad that some of it came a little too late.

I hope that you rest in peace my brother and I will see you one day again...

I found this poem today....

Rest in peace my brother you did not die in vain Rest in peace my brother though we do not all know each other we all share a common pain
Rest in peace my brother the world will miss you so Rest in peace my brother we will allways keep your memory alive

Rest in peace my brother and do not worry we will finish the mision with you in our hearts.
Rest in peace my brother we will carry you in our hearts for the rest of our lives
Rest in peace now brother for you will not be forgotten

Our Deepest Sympathy
